GEORGIA O'KEEFFE: Visions of Hawai'i Bronx Botanical Gardens

Meet us at 11:00, let's journey together to the world of Georgia O'Keeffe, best known for her paintings of enlarged flowers, New York City Skyscrapers and New Mexico landscapes.

First, Sheryl will give an introductory talk/lecture over coffee at their Cafe. She will discuss, the life and times of this complicated woman: her loves, her relationship with Alfred Stieglitz and we will learn about her development as an artist. We will learn why O'Keeffe is recognized as the "Mother of American Modernism". She was very famous by the time that she was commissioned to create two advertisements for a Hawaiian Pineapple Company which is the subject of this exhibition.

Then we will stroll through several magnificent garden areas on our way toward The Enid A. Haupt Conservatory. Sheryl will guide you through the blockbuster exhibition. We will walk through the re-imagined lush and wild and cultivated plantings that highlight Hawaii Islands, which the NYBG has assembled. Then we will proceed through more picturesque gardens to the way to the Mertz Library Art Gallery to view a grouping of works O'Keeffe created on her trip which have not been seen together since their 1940 debut.
